

When I was a boy,
I had an inquisitive mind.
To every question an answer
I strove hard to find.
I found lots of them,
all cherished and put aside.

Today I look at the bunch:
The varnish is peeling
and you know what?
There are more questions inside!